

The Most Frequently Asked Question About Our New eBay Program Are...

What kind of items do you want?

While eBay is a great place to sell nearly anything, the following items have historically sold well:

- Art, Antiques, Coins, and Other Collectibles
- Clothing, Shoes, and Accessories
- Toys
- Tickets to Sport Events & Concerts
- Vintage & Retro Items
- Books, CDs, DVDs, and Video Games
- Jewelry
- Sporting Goods & Memorabilia
- Celebrity Signed and/or Designed Memorabilia
- Gift Cards

What items should I consider when making a donation?

For an item to be sellable, it would need to follow the guidelines that, for example, a Consignment store would have. Or in the condition that you would expect to receive it, if you were a Buyer.

- Have recognizable Brand names
- Clothing: No rips, tears, or stains
- Can be either new, or in excellent condition
- Be clean. We need the items in Sellable condition, not items that have to be cleaned first.
- Electronics: working condition. (see back of this flyer regarding Electronics).

What about Large items?

A good rule of thumb is, if the cost of SHIPPING the item outweighs the value of the item, then it is not going to sell on eBay. For example, a Computer Monitor is too heavy to ship. As we get further into this program, we have better qualifications for large items, but for now, if you have a question about an item being too large, please email Lori Wetzel at lwetzel@dublinvcc.org.
